Todd D. Kelly
Mobile Device Forensics &
Surveillance Detection (TSCM)

Core Qualifications

- More than seven years experience with the newest concepts and trends in digital forensics and electronic eavesdropping detection; member of Espionage Research Institute International.
- Extensive knowledge and training complemented by a friendly demeanor and outstanding communication skills.
- Provides Hawk PI clients with powerful technology capabilities, including mobile device forensics, surveillance, and cyber surveillance countermeasures.

Todd specializes in surveillance detection and mobile device forensics. Working in both civil and corporate investigations, his industry-leading training in technical surveillance countermeasures (TSCM) has armed him with the tools, knowledge, and practices to support privacy for a wide range of clients.

Electronic surveillance detection and the techniques used to mitigate it are constantly changing and require continuous training. Certified by Research Electronics International and Cellebrite, Todd's commitment to advanced TSCM methods keeps him on the leading edge of the technologies.

In addition to TSCM, Todd is also skilled in the science of digital forensics. Forensics are used to discover hidden evidence saved to mobile devices that would otherwise be unobtainable, such as a deleted message or photo, which often accelerates investigations and quickly resolves cases. His knowledge and training, combined with an approachable, friendly demeanor, make him a valuable asset to Hawk PI clients.
